Dear Interested Parties and Potential Subgrantees:

In April 2017, Nevada was awarded a Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 State Targeted Response to the Opioid Crisis Grant (Short Title: Opioid STR). The program was aimed at addressing the opioid crisis (including misuse of prescription opioids as well as other illicit drugs) by increasing access to treatment, reducing unmet treatment need, and reducing opioid overdose related deaths through the provision of overdose prevention, treatment, and recovery activities for opioid use disorders.

As an Opioid STR Grantee, the State of Nevada is required to expand access to treatment and recovery services. Nevada expects to meet the goals of the Opioid STR Grant through the following activities:

- Implement system design models that will most rapidly address the gaps in their systems of care to deliver evidence-based treatment interventions, including induction and maintenance of medication assisted treatment services (MAT) and psychosocial interventions;
- Implement or expand access to clinically appropriate evidence-based practices (EBPs) for OUD treatment, particularly, the use of medication assisted treatment (MAT), i.e., the use of FDA-approved medications (e.g., methadone, buprenorphine products including buprenorphine/naloxone combination formulations and buprenorphine monoproduct formulations, naltrexone products including extended-release and oral formulations or implantable buprenorphine) in combination with psychosocial interventions. (For more relevant resources: <https://www.samhsa.gov/medication-assisted-treatment>.)
- Provide treatment transition and coverage for patients reentering communities from criminal justice settings or other rehabilitative settings.
- Report progress toward increasing availability of treatment for OUD and reducing opioid-related overdose deaths based on measures developed in collaboration with the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS); and
- Ensure individuals have opportunities for engagement in treatment and recovery supports throughout the continuum of care and increase retention in care.
- Enhance or support the provision of peer and other recovery support services designed to improve treatment access and retention and support long-term recovery.

For the period of August 2018 – April 30, 2019, an RFA to promote MAT Expansion services across the state by increasing Nevada’s service and referral network was released in May. Activities and services will build upon the work accomplished during the 2017-2018 funding cycle that established three Integrated Opioid Treatment and Recovery Centers (IOTRC) across the State of Nevada. The Integrated Opioid Treatment and Recovery Center’s (IOTRC) serve as the regional consultants and subject matter experts on opioid use disorder treatment, provide Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) and clinically appropriated evidence-based interventions for the treatment of OUD, and recovery services for adult and adolescent populations.

The goal of this RFA, Opioid State Targeted Response (STR): Services Expansion Community Preparedness Planning – Opioid Overdose, is to solicit Opioid Overdose Community Preparedness Plans for each county in Nevada, administered by the community coalitions, Health Department, or local EMS.

COMMUNITY PREPAREDNESS PLANNING – Response to Opioid Overdose

The goal of implementing community preparedness planning measures is to reduce injury or death related to overdose by facilitating the development and implementation of coordinated response strategies using existing resources. Public Health/Emergency Awareness in response to the opiate crisis is designed to occur in communities in an effort to address local needs regarding substance use misuse and abuse trends, community access to resources, and facilitate interaction between programs including but not limited to Opioid Use Disorder (OUD) treatment centers, health care centers, community centers, social service programs, and law enforcement.

Required Format:

Each submitted Community Preparedness Plan must contain the following sections:

PLAN DEVELOPMENT

Steps that are recommended in developing the framework for an action plan will be based on the resources that are available within your own communities. The following steps will assist in that development:

- Each community will need to identify and implement a real time overdose mapping system. This system will be utilized to track information that guides activities pre-overdose spikes, during an overdose spikes, and post overdose spikes.
- Identify the stakeholders (e.g. EMS, Law Enforcement, Health Department, Coroners, treatment centers, etc.) that will be integral to your plan. Each stakeholder will need clear definitions of their role and responsibility.
- Select leaders that will assist with coordinating the action plan with the stakeholders. This group of leaders will assign responsibilities among the stakeholders based upon the community's resources and needs. This may include the coalitions, Health Department, and/or local EMS
- Create a clear definition as to what a spike of opioid overdoses will be in your community. A spike is the number of suspected overdoses in a certain timeframe that will trigger the response plan. To best develop this definition, historical data in your community will be needed to understand what constitutes a spike.
- Establish and determine pre-opioid spike, during opioid crisis spike and post-opioid spike activities.
- Communicate with the community to best identify local contributors to overdose risk. Factors may include local drug trends and use, availability and access to treatment, evaluation of current outreach strategies or materials.
- Establish line of communication with the press in the event of a spike in OD deaths, especially if due to fentanyl and/or carfentanyl in an area.
- Identify local resources and what assistance may be needed.
- Implement a system of evaluation to assess the effectiveness of the current plan and adjust as needed to remain operative.

ENGAGEMENT

Community engagement is an important component to address both those individuals who are at risk of overdose and community members who are likely to engage with those who are at risk including family and friends. A system of information delivery of community resources will need to be developed. Communities will need access to information regarding services beyond treatment including:

- Establishment of naloxone distribution centers that are accessible to community members.
- Provide drug disposal and unused prescription medication drop off sites.
- Support meetings available for those who are at risk (i.e. NA, AA, SMART Recovery, etc) as well those who support those individuals (i.e. Al-Anon, Nar-Anon, etc).
- Provide continued education on Good Samaritan Law protections and provisions.
- Deliver education on harm reduction strategies that can help prevent overdoses.
- Provide school and community education programs to raise awareness and educate about the risk of opioid misuse, opioid overdose, and opioid overdose rescue training

Stakeholders

Some common agencies that may be utilized as stakeholders include local health departments, state health departments, first responders, coroner or medical examiner's offices, hospital emergency departments, community coalitions, treatment facilities, parole & probation, correctional facilities, social services, schools, and media. Each agency can play an important role in community response and development.

Health Departments are important in coordinating between stakeholders and the Response Plan Team. They are in the best position to evaluate local plans following overdose spikes and provide feedback. Recommended actions for Health Departments include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Work with the Response Plan Team and stakeholders to develop a local Overdose Spike Response Plan. It will likely be beneficial to coordinate with the State Health Department or your local health department to reduce duplicate efforts.
- Develop a public service announcement (PSA) template that can be easily implemented if an overdose spike occurs.
- Analyze historic data to define an overdose spike at the local level
- Establish an information delivery system coordinating with media groups and develop a plan to distribute PSAs in the event of a spike
- Provide training on criminal investigations (criminal/epidemiologic investigations course)
- Provide Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) Training

During a Spike:

- During a spike, Health Departments will be responsible to implement local response plans, issue PSA if appropriate, and coordinate with local stakeholders
- Confirm ODMAP spike with syndromic surveillance
- Conduct epidemiologic investigation

Post-Spike:

- Evaluate data and distribute findings to stake holders to improve response strategies
- Debrief for lessons learned

First responders (including fire departments, EMS, and law enforcement) are often the first to encounter those experiencing an overdose. During periods of overdose spikes, first responders will need to prepare for increased volume of cases. Recommended actions for first responders include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Identify necessary information to be disseminated during an overdose spike.
- Supervisors will be responsible for developing a plan to reduce first responder burnout (e.g. access to employee assistance programs or critical incident stress management).
- Provide continuing education for first responders in overdose reversals and safe handling guidelines and epidemiologic investigations (criminal/epidemiologic investigations course)
- Plan engagement activities to improve community view of law enforcement.
- Provide CIT Training

During a Spike:

- Contact Overdose Spike Response Plan Team.
- Coordinate with local emergency departments to ensure appropriate treatment for overdose reversal and concerns of unusual symptoms.
- Increase law enforcement presence in known hotspots to increase naloxone availability.
- Deploy investigative plan.
- Promote information sharing across jurisdictions.
- Maintain an appropriate supply of naloxone to account for spikes.
- Establish field narcotic detection testing of product.

Post-Spike:

- Coordinate with coroner/medical examiners to expedite analysis in the event of a spike.

- Implement employee assistance/critical incident stress management plan, as needed.
- Debrief for lessons learned.

Coroner's or medical examiners offices assist law enforcement agencies in investigating overdose spikes through analysis of evidence. This assists in identifying substance trends and contributing concerns to better guide Response Plans. Recommended actions for forensics include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Develop coordinated plans for expediting evidence during spikes.
- Develop a communication plan with law enforcement.
- Collect necessary evidence to better understand and address possible public health threats. (Should this be under the next tab during a spike?)
- Provide training for epidemiologic investigations (criminal/epidemiologic investigations)

During a Spike:

- Prioritize evidence analysis based upon plan.
- Implement communication plan with law enforcement.

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Hospital emergency departments will likely be a point of contact for individuals who have experienced an overdose. They are in a position to educate individuals and connect them to available resources. Recommended actions for emergency departments include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Establish discharge protocols to expedite connection to treatment services.
- Establish a follow up process and a point of contact.
- Develop a resource contact list and contact plan in the event of a spike. (Contact mobile response team, if a team exists within your local jurisdiction. If no mobile response team create a plan to coordinate with community paramedicine providers).
- Identify detox resources.
- Identify staff that are responsible for educating patients at discharge and provide take home education and naloxone.
- Prepare HIPPA compliant release of information paperwork for any 3rd party follow-up or referrals.
- Provide CIT Training.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan.

- Maintain an appropriate supply of naloxone to account for spikes.
- Report increased trend to local health department (as appropriate).
- Follow discharge protocols based upon plan.

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Parole and Probation officers are regular points of contact with individuals that offers opportunity for brief intervention for those who may be at risk of overdose or family members of those who are. Harm reduction messages and treatment encouragement may decrease risk or help others respond appropriately when they observe an overdose.

Pre-Overdose Spikes:

- Provide access to and promotion of educational materials (e.g. Naloxone training and distribution, Good Samaritan Law awareness, treatment resources, etc.).
- Coordinate with Response Plan Team.
- Identify information to be shared during a spike to those on probation/parole and their families.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan
- Reinforce best practices for reducing overdoses.
- Inform friends and families of those on probation/parole of spikes and promote evidence-based practices.

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Individuals with a history of opioid use are at an increased risk of overdose following release from a correctional facility. Correctional facilities may become a resource to enforce harm reduction for individuals prior to and at the time of release regarding reduced tolerance levels and provide overdose education. Recommended actions for correctional facilities include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Identify information to be shared with inmates upon release (e.g. overdose education, and reduced tolerance after periods of abstinence).
- Investigate opportunities to provide naloxone kits upon release.
- Identify a list of resources for OUD treatment.
- Identify support group resources.
- Provide CIT Training.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan.

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

OD Treatment Facilities will likely see an increase in referrals during or immediately following a spike. They should remain in communication with referral sources such as emergency rooms and law enforcement regarding their current capacity. They also can provide education and outreach resources. Recommended actions for treatment facilities include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Establish protocol for communicating resource availability to referral sources and appropriate members of the Response Plan Team.
- Identify information to be shared with existing clients during a spike (e.g. increased risk for overdose, resource cards, self-help meeting schedules, etc.).
- Provide info to LE/PH as appropriate of any awareness of increased OD activity or bad batch info.
- Provide CIT Training.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan.

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Community coalitions are often organized stakeholders in the community that have established relationships within the community and have more accessibility for organizing outreach events. They tend to know where high risk populations are and have established rapport with these individuals. Recommended actions for community coalitions include:

Pre-Overdose Spikes:

- Assist with overdose prevention measures (e.g. naloxone trainings, Good Samaritan Law promotions, Public Service Announcements, etc.).
- Identify information sharing channels that can be utilized during spikes.
- Share information about the community and needs with the Response Plan Team.
- Provide info to LE/PH as appropriate of any awareness of increased OD activity or bad batch info.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan.

Post-spike

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Social services and schools are able to address the needs of younger populations that may be impacted by overdose spikes. Recommended actions include:

Pre-Overdose Spikes:

- Ensure first responders are trained and aware of protocols for overdose incidents that involve a child.
- Identify information to be shared from first responders to Child Protective Services.
- Identify process for notifying a school resource officer, counselors, or appropriate staff during an overdose spike.
- Provide CIT Training.

During a Spike:

- Implement Overdose Spike Response Plan.
- Notify appropriate staff of overdose spike

Post-spike:

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Media outlets are a resource to effectively communicate messages to prevent overdoses. Recommended actions regarding media include:

Pre-Overdose Spike:

- Designate a Public Information Officer within the Response Plan Team to coordinate with media.
- Develop a protocol of how and when to use the media to disseminate messages to the public regarding overdose spikes.
- Prepare templates or scripts that can be swiftly tailored in the event of an overdose spike warranting messaging to the public.

During a Spike:

- Release prepared messages outlined in plan.

Post-spike

- Debrief for lessons learned.

Plans may be annexed under existing community public health emergency preparedness plans.

Plan Evaluation Criteria

Applicants must provide evidence of their capacity to successfully execute all proposed strategies and activities to meet the objectives outlined within the template.

Instructions:

Please fill out the following spending plan using the budgeted amounts from your sub grant budget. All amounts must match the budget categories in your budget justification. All fields in the template are locked except for those requiring your input as follows:

- In cell C3, please enter the name of your organization.
- In cell C4, select the start month and year of your subgrant by using the drop-down box. After you make your month and year selection, the rest of the dates will be filled in automatically for a 12-month time period.
- In cell C5, enter the total amount of your sub-grant award.
- In cells B7 to B 13, put the total amount of the categorical costs in the appropriate section. These amounts must match the amounts in the same categories in you budget justification.
- In cells C7 to N7, enter your expected total personnel costs for each month.
- In Cells C8 to N8, please enter your expected travel costs for each month as appropriate.
- In Cells C9 to N9, please enter operating costs you expect to spend for each month.
- In Cells C10 to N10, please enter any planned equipment purchases and place those costs in the month(s) you expect to incur the costs.

- In Cell C12 to N12, please note any expected training costs in the months you expect the training activities to occur.
- In Cell C13 to N13, please specify any other costs that are planned in the months they will occur.

While you are entering this information, you will observe that cells for the "Total" and "Total Percentage" will be auto calculated and will reflect one of three colors. If the cell is yellow, it indicates that the amount is below the total awarded amount; if the color is green, it indicates the amount is the same as the total awarded amount; and if the cell turns red, it indicates that the amount is above the total awarded amount. All applicable cells must reflect green once you are finished filling in your spending plan for each month.

In the same way, you will notice the end column (O7 thru O15) will also change colors. Once again, yellow indicates that the total amount for the total of all months for the category is under the total budgeted amount (reflected in the "B" column), the green indicates that the monthly total for the category matches the total categorical budget, and red indicates that the monthly total exceeds the categorical budget. All cells must be green before submitting the spending plan. At the bottom of each column, a monthly percentage of the total budget is also calculated. The sum of all monthly percentages must equal 100% of the total award.
