The ability to choose whether to inject a non-approved and poorly tested vaccine into one's body is a personal choice. By no means do I feel that NSHE had the right to tell me to do so. As a full time student, it is imperative that I can successfully and continually go to school to reach toward my degree. It is well known that students cannot just stop going to school in the middle of their career, as their future and livelihoods depend on it. This mandate should not be approved because of these reasons and because I ultimately hold the right to choose what to do with my body, and no one should rightfully tell me otherwise.

Thank you.
