Dear Mr. Pilippi,

I am told that the Nevada Schools are considering administering the experimental Covid vaccines to their students. This should be prohibited and may have serious consequences to the students, Nevada Schools, and the personnel who authorized the procedure for the following reasons.

1. Young people are not seriously affected by contracting the virus.
2. The experimental vaccines have been shown to cause health problems in children and adults.
3. The experimental vaccines have caused the recipients to infect others by the vaccinated creating the virus within their own bodies.
4. Some people have experienced blood clots in the heart, arteries, and the brains of individuals after vaccination sometimes causing death.
5. Any health related procedure administered to under age people should be authorized by their parents.

There are many other reasons for the State of Nevada to avoid usurping the authority of Health Professionals. Most teachers are prohibited from administering aspirin to students. Isn't a vaccination worthy of a similar prohibition?

Please be careful. This decision on your part could be harmful to your future.

Thank you.
