- 2.) Public Comment:

Ms. Robin Reedy, Executive Director of the National Alliance of Mental Illness of Northern Nevada (NAMI).

Ms. Reedy began by stating four years ago, supportive housing conditions were horrific. As a result of these conditions, there had been a lot of news coverage which resulted in a lot of work done to improve these conditions. Ms. Reedy went on to say, housing is the number one issue they get calls on their help line. These calls come from individuals with mental issues, parents of adult children looking for a place and parent who are aging or dying and are worried about their adult children who have mental health conditions, having a safe place to live. Ms. Reedy continued by stating NAMI strongly advocates supportive living. The state has done everything possible without spending money to promote supportive housing but now is the time to take a political risk of pushing the envelope into getting revenue streams for long term supportive housing. This would be for people with mental health conditions, disabilities and also push for extremely low-income housing when supportive housing is no longer needed. This will give a quality of life to individuals they don't have now.

3.) Review and Approval of Minutes from April 22, May 5, and June 2, 2022.

- 5.) Informational: Presentation on policy solutions to address gaps in supportive housing. Sarah Adler, Belz and Case Government Affairs, Founder of NAMI of Northern Nevada.

Ms. Sarah Adler gave an overview, explained how the housing finance system works, and gave a possible solution for attaining revenue for the supportive and affordable housing crisis in Nevada. This could be done by raising the Real Property Transfer Tax from .10 for every $500.00 to .25 for every $500.00 on the sale of real property.

This presentation can be found on the state website https://dphh.nv.gov/Boards/RBHPB/Board_Meetings/2018/northern-regional/.

Ms. Shayla Holms stated the shortage of qualified professionals is one reason the supportive housing program does not work. Ms. Holms is in favor of raising the Real Property Transfer Tax to get the housing but wondered where money will come from for the wrap around services required. Ms. Holms does not think going to the counties is the best option.

Chair Allison inquired how the raising of the tax would impact a buyer or seller.

Ms. Adler responded by saying the Real Property Transfer Tax is different from county to county. Ms. Adler gave Clark County as an example by stating a large portion of the tax goes to the Clark County School District; a significant part goes to the state's general fund, a slice goes to local or county government and a very small amount goes to affordable housing. Ms. Adler pointed out that casino's do not have to pay this transfer when they sell property. She suggested that this loophole could be closed.

Dr. Hynes-Sutherland inquired how this would be distributed among the counties should this pass.

Ms. Adler acknowledged that a discussion would be needed about who in rural Nevada will take responsibility for the allocation of funds.

Ms. Aaker stated an increase in the Medicaid reimbursement rate could be helpful.
