

John Wilcox

John Wilcox retired from banking after 34 years in leadership positions in the Nevada market. His background includes sales management, training, leadership development, team building, recruiting, financial management and more. During his career, he had responsibilities for real estate lending, retail banking, in-store banking, business banking, healthcare banking and more.

He served upon numerous non-profit boards in the community in multiple leadership capacities.

His leadership and analytical skills combined with his active involvement in non-profit organizations prepared him to effectively evaluate a variety businesses' needs and opportunities.

John founded the JDW Group LLC in 2017 in an effort to invest his years of experience into helping organizations with the challenges that they might be facing as well as capitalizing upon those opportunities that would contribute to meeting and exceeding their long term goals. The JDW Group LLC has worked with both non-profit and for profit organizations in reorganizing management and sales processes, developing compensation programs, strategic planning and more.
